

Data Migration

Pharmaceutical, biotechnology, and medical device companies often face the challenge of migrating data between different computerized systems in support of a variety of business needs. The licensing or acquisition of a new product from another company, implementing a new clinical data management or drug safety system, completion of a study with a CRO, or the movement of data into a data warehouse all create the need for a timely data migration.

BKP Technologies, Inc. offers customized data migrations that utilize the unique combination of our technology skills and our expert knowledge of clinical data management (CDMS) and product safety systems. BKP Tech evaluates the parameters of the migration project and recommends the right combination of automated and manual techniques to meet your deadlines cost-effectively. Because BKP Tech works with many different CDMS and pharmacovigilance systems across our client base, we have the experience and toolset needed to attack the myriad of challenges in data migration. Our migration methodology includes:

- Working with clients to form the right team of staff members to support the migration
- Analyzing data to be migrated to determine best migration approach/strategy
- Developing and unit testing the Extract, Transform and Load (ETL) toolsets
- Development of a full suite of validation documentation for the migration effort
- Performing formal test runs of the migration process
- Execution of the migration into production systems under strict validation protocols

Our data migration services are delivered by consultants and engineers with an average of 10-20+ years of experience in performing data migrations in regulated environments. Many of our data migrations have been successfully audited and reviewed by third-party organizations and regulatory bodies. Our team will work with your internal resources to ensure effective knowledge transfer and to provide cost effective data migration solutions and services that meet your regulatory and business requirements.
